ABOUT US

 www.kgkmindia.com

The Kamdhenu Gau Krishi Mahotsav (KGKM) is a one-of-a-kind event dedicated to showcasing the diversity of Indian indigenous cow breeds and promoting sustainable agricultural practices. Organized by the International Federation of Indigenous Zebu Cattle of India (IFIZCI), this event aims to facilitate all the stakeholders involved in the dairy and agriculture industries in exploring best practices, exchanging knowledge, promoting their products, and establishing a broader network of like-minded individuals in the industry, government, and academia.

THE INTERNATIONAL FEDERATION OF INDIGENOUS ZEBU CATTLE OF INDIA

ABOUT IFIZCI

The International Federation of Indigenous Zebu Cattle of India (IFIZCI) stands as a dedicated Indian organization, placing its primary focus on the enhancement of Zebu Cattle breeds and fostering international collaboration. The objective is to preserve the best germplasm and genetics of all Indian Zebu breeds. Through the incorporation of innovative technologies, comprehensive training programs, and ongoing research on nutrition and feeding practices, IFIZCI is committed to elevating the well-being of Indigenous Zebu Cattle. We staunchly advocate policies that support the conservation of these invaluable breeds, while simultaneously facilitating income-generation opportunities for cattle breeders. Our commitment extends to the promotion of sustainable agriculture and fodder production techniques as well as the preservation of traditional cattle rearing practices.

ECHOES FROM THE PAST: THE ZEBU BULL'S ENDURING LEGACY SINCE THE HARAPPAN CIVILIZATION

SOURCE - THE BULL SEAL IS CURRENTLY ON DISPLAY AT THE HARAPPA MUSEUM IN PAKISTAN

Step back in time to the sacred realm of the ancient Indus Valley Civilization, where the cow has held sanctity since time immemorial. Unearthed from the layers of history, the Bull Seal, dating back to approximately 2200-2500 BCE, is a poignant relic from 'The Indus Valley Civilization,' flourishing between 3300 to 1300 BCE.

This small yet significant artifact, crafted from steatite, showcases an intricately carved image of a bull with a majestic hump and curving horns. Standing on a pedestal, the bull is encircled by a border of symbols within the seal - a testament to the profound significance of cattle in this ancient Indian civilization. Theories surrounding the purpose of the Bull Seal vary; some suggest its use as a stamp or seal, possibly indicating ownership of goods or documents, while others point to its integral role in religious rituals.

Its thematic recurrence in rituals and decorative arts has captivated archaeologists, portraying 'The Humped Bull' as a compelling subject. This emblematic figure, appearing on painted pottery and as figurines, predates the rise of cities and persists into later historical times.

Symbolizing strength, virility, and leadership within the herd, the Zebu Bull potentially served as the guardian ensuring the procreation of the species. Carved in stone, it may represent the most powerful clans or top officials of Mohenjo-daro and Harappa. As we explore the echoes of this ancient civilization, the Zebu Bull stands as a timeless symbol, resonating with the cultural and historical richness of the region.

RADIANT REVELRY: INDIA'S PREMIER CATTLE CELEBRATIONS

COWS HAVE BEEN AN INTEGRAL PART OF ALL OUR FESTIVALS AND CELEBRATIONS

सर्वदेवनमस्कारः केशवं प्रतिगच्छति ।
कुर्वञ्नेवार्चितं भूयः सुर्पूजा भवेत्ततः ।

"All gods and goddesses are present in the body of the cow. Worshipping the cow is equivalent to worshipping Lord Krishna. Performing cow worship leads to the highest form of divine worship."

POLA

Celebrated in Maharashtra & Chattisgarh, this festival highlights the importance of cows by acknowledging their crucial part in agriculture and farming activities.

GOREHABBA

Gorehabba or Gore Habba is a festival of splashing cow dung on each other. It is celebrated as 'Thanksgiving' by farmers in Gumatapura, Karnataka.

Go Bandna

A post-harvesting celebration called Go Bandna, or the festival of the cow. In Bengali, 'go' means cow and 'bandna' means worship. Celebrated by the Santals of Purulia as 'Thanksgiving' to the cows, they offer special baths to their cows. Perform the songs of go-jagania, which protect their cattle from the evil forces of the night accompanied by painting, dancing, music, food and sports.

GAIJATRA

Celebrated in the Indo-Gangetic Plain. Cows are marched on the streets in the memory of family members who have passed away. The name roughly translates to Cow's Journey!

JALLIKATTU

A traditional event of Tamil Nadu where a bull is released into a crowd & multiple participants attempt to grab the bull's hump on the back with arms & hang on to it while the bull attempts to escape.

KHEKRA FESTIVAL

An old tradition performed to worship cows on Govardhan Puja in Nathdwara. Cows' heads are embellished with peacock feathers & their necks are belled. Furthermore cows are ornamented with ghunguroos in their legs and vibrantly painted horns.

MOICHARA

The speciality of Moichara lies in the manner it is celebrated, which is marked by cattle race among villagers. This festival is over 100 years old & the primary purpose is to test the capacity of the bulls before the start of cultivation and increase the fertility of the land.

BIHU

1st day of Bwisagu is dedicated to cow worship by the Bodos of Assam. Cows are bathed, decorated with garlands, their horns are oiled & turmeric paste on their foreheads.

KICCHU HAYISUVUDU

Famous in Mysuru and Mandya, cattle are made to walk through fire to celebrate the festival of harvest. The ritual involves bullocks and their masters running through the flames for warding off evil & bringing good luck to them.

GOVATSA DWADASHI

Govatsa Dwadashi is also celebrated as Nandi Vrat. Nandi is the divine cow in Hinduism who is worshipped on this day. Post worship, they are given food made from wheat. The use of cow's milk & wheat products is prohibited on this day.

PASUVULA PANDUGA CATTLE FESTIVAL

This cattle festival in Andhra Pradesh is observed to appease the gods for improving & protecting livestock. Cows & bulls are colourfully decorated with trophies attached to their horns to be snatched by the villagers.

NAGAUR CATTLE FESTIVAL

This Cattle Festival is held in the quaint town of Nagaur. Essentially fun events like tug-of-war, camel & bullock races take place along with enchanting folk music of Jodhpur.

DEEPALI TIHAR

Cows are worshipped as the vahana (vehicle) of Goddess Lakshmi associated with prosperity. Women show their gratitude to the cow by doing their Aarti & Tikka & feeding them prasad.
